GLIMPSES

The Ultimate Vision

Great minds work to greet others, longing for a journey of thousand miles in a single step. Since the beginning many people have contributed for the betterment of the society but there are exceptionals who have a "Vision to Educate the Society", which in long term leads to building of a strong Nation.

It is rightly said that visionaries are not made but they are born and two such grandiose are Honourable Dr. Subir Kumar Banerjee and Chairperson Mrs. Suvra Banerjee, who nurture the dream to bring revolution in the field of education. Their vision is to impart world class education on the homeground, where each child is educated and efforts play into existence.

My experience with NIE has revealed sides of mine which I never had refined much. Now, I am writing more and I am also being keen on updating myself time to time about the world around me. I am now aware of this beautiful world of Journalism and how it takes the efforts of so many hard working people to run a single newspaper.

I have also learnt a lot about the importance of public opinion. Media, written or visual, acts as a very powerful medium for generating public opinion and it has always been so. Through TOI and NIE, public opinion has gained much significance and publicity all through the years and that's incredible.

My experience with NIE has been splendid and a very knowledgeable one so far, and I am very happy with it.

Dear Readers,

I am proud to introduce the first edition of our school newsletter 'Glimpses' wherein one can get an insight of the plethora of activities happening in the school. Children are always buzzing with lots of hidden talent. 'Glimpses' offers them a platform to unleash their creativity. This 8 paged newsletter gives an opportunity to children to express with certain panache in every arena. Few pages are devoted to writers and poets, artist & painters who get the space to fill with their ink of creativity.

Every achiever needs accolades and claps! There is a page for galaxy of biggies where photographs, trophies and medals would flash on this page. This year our school has achieved distinction in many spheres. Although few have been highlighted, our hearty congratulations to all the young achievers who brought laurels to the school.

As one flicks through our newsletter, one would get a glance of the gamut of affairs going on in the school. The main aim of New Horizon Scholars School is to boost the children to come up with new notions and thoughts. This will help them to grow as an individual and make a remarkable contribution to the society. I feel encouragement and motivation are the tools to build confidence in children so that they could think out of the box and come out with innate talent which is very much brewing inside them.

It's a beginning of a new journey at NHSS and we will have more glimpses of budding artists, writers and achievers. It's indeed a great attempt by all the children and staff members for taking a plunge into a fascinating world of 'Glimpses'.

Regards and Best wishes,

Kalakruti
A Portrayal of Humanity

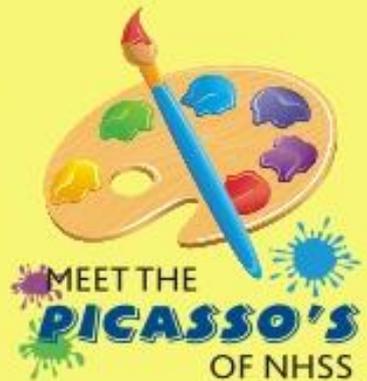

It is in the heart of mankind that humanity survives. This was surely proven by the students and the staff members of New Horizon Scholars School, Thane, who exemplified benevolence through 'KALAKRUTI'. It was a day of recognition for the human spirit that was seen through the acts of donation and fruitful education. In this world of uncertainty and danger, this tiny act proves the power of love through culture and its exchange, a crusade for the survival of humanity among us, 'Kalakruti' has been a resounding success, to be reverberated through the years to come.

Flowers

*Flowers are a beauty, and protecting them is our duty
If we don't protect, we will face the after effect.
Flowers are of many kind, they immediately refresh our mind.
A garden Is a sight of joy, Which we all should enjoy.
Plucking the flowers is a sin, which we should control within.
It is a boon of nature, which we should always nurture.*

Love the Teacher

*Welcome to school!!! A place to respect your teacher
And to make a strong future
A place where you learn English and Hindi literature
A place to show all your new features
Don't be scared of your teacher
For she is just a compassionate human creature
You should actually be thankful to your teacher
That will make you a bigger and better seeker
She is more hurt than you when she raises her voice
But at times she doesn't have any other choice
Therefore don't be angry or sad
it's just an experience that you had
By correcting our mistakes she shapes our mind
Chosen by God, Teachers are very kind.*

Father

Dedicated to all fathers.

*A father like you is a dream come true,
I thank God that he chose me to come to you.
Someone who is thoughtful and kind,
And my silly mistakes who wouldn't mind.
Someone who doesn't care if I sing off tune,
But still loving me all the way upto the moon.
Teaching us gently right from wrong,
Always ready with his guitar and a song.
Providing for our every need with a smile,
Our very own counsellor, friend and guide.
The sweetest father a child can get,
To me you are the greatest man I have ever met.*

Crossing Lines

Nandini Avdhanam
Grade IX B

There is a point that comes when you cross the line between reading a little and reading a lot. Although crossing imaginary lines may never be a good thing, trust me, this most certainly is a good thing. When you cross that line, fiction becomes reality and reality fiction. When you open that book, it's like taking 'time off' from reality. The worlds that you constantly read about and daydream are the only things that fill up your brain when you are bored. Discovering new books, falling in love with books, starting a new series, all these things become the most defining moments in your everyday life. You dream about the characters, may be you understand them better than you understand yourself. You find yourself predicting every one of their moves, yet you are clueless about your own. Fictional characters aren't just fictional anymore. When faced with a tough challenge, you often find yourself asking, 'what would the character do?'. They are your heroes, your saviours, your knights in shining armours. You are simply content when left alone with them. Some may think you need to concentrate more on reality. They don't understand. This is your only escape from those people and you wouldn't have it any other way.

SPORTS corner

Our School ensures regular participation in sports and physical activities as an integral part of the curriculum. The Fast and the Furious

Brian- Torreto are real heroes,
Their cars break all zeroes
Yo! Don't ever challenge them
Or you'll end up like Shaw
Who never know their awe
Their cars roar
Like a wild boar!!!!!!
